

A-Core Container

42V base station power supply where is it used

Overview

Note: The 42V standard is often used in mild hybrid electric vehicles (MHEVs) and advanced automotive systems, where it provides sufficient power for electric turbochargers, active suspension, and regenerative braking—without the complexity of full high-voltage EV systems (which typically use 400V+).

42V base station power supply where is it used

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:
<https://www.a-core.pl>