Overview

Which country imports natural gas to Armenia?

Natural gas is imported primarily from Russia through Georgia, with a limited volume of natural gas imported from Iran in an electricity-for-gas swap arrangement. Nuclear fuel is imported from Russia. Armenia's energy consumption efficiency is low compared to developed countries.

Does Armenia have energy resources?

Armenia has limited energy resources and can meet only a fraction of the total demand for energy from domestic resources. Armenia does not have oil or natural gas reserves and is thus highly dependent on imported energy resources. It imports oil and petroleum products from Russia, Georgia, Iran, and Europe.

What are Armenia's main exports?

Armenia's main exports are metals and diamonds. Other exports include energy, beverages, and vegetables and fruit. Armenia's main exports partners are Russia, Germany, Iran, Bulgaria, the Netherlands, the United States, Spain, Canada and Belgium. Compare Exports by Country.

How did Armenia's Foreign Trade perform in 2024?

According to preliminary figures from the National Statistics Committee (NSC), Armenia's foreign trade in 2024 surged by 41.5% from 2023, reaching over USD 30.1 billion. Exports increased by 53.1%, amounting to over USD 13 billion, while imports reached over USD 17 billion, recording a 33.8% increase compared to 2023.

How has the energy sector changed in Armenia?

Armenia's energy sector has moved from a state of severe crisis in the early 1990s to relative stability today. A combination of policy, legal, regulatory, and institutional reforms have had good results.

Is Armenia a good country for international trade?

Foreign trade in Armenia represents 120% of GDP (World Bank, latest data available), and the country follows an open and liberal policy regarding international commerce. Armenian exports of precious stones, metals, and related articles surged 2.3 times to USD 3.2 billion in 2023, becoming the largest export group.
