Overview

Who is a supplier?

But the term suppliers also includes providers of financial and labor inputs. Stockholders, banks, insurance companies, pension funds, and other similar organizations are needed to ensure a continuous supply of capital.

How do I find a product supplier?

Another way to look for product suppliers is searching for your products by their code in the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). The NAICS classifies manufacturers and products with codes, making some manufacturers and suppliers easier to find, especially in professional directories.

How do I choose a supplier?

Create a list of standards your supplier needs to meet to provide what you need. Here are a few points to consider: Setting standards in advance will allow you to evaluate potential suppliers for each listed item and ensure that you do not overlook any important requirements.
